

IMMIGRANTS AND MILITARY RECRUITMENT

RECRUITMENT

- Increasingly, the military targets immigrants and their families through Spanish language advertising and English as a Second Language classes.

90 immigrant service members since 2001 received citizenship only after they were killed in combat.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

- Despite promises, the military does not have the authority to guarantee citizenship for soldiers or their families if they enlist.
- Only green card holders are eligible to enlist. Undocumented people are not eligible to join the military.
- Many soldiers have experienced serious bureaucratic trouble with their citizenship applications. Often this has been because they are in Iraq and are not in the U.S. to advocate for their eligibility.

RED TAPE

- By May of 2008, only 57% of soldiers who had applied for citizenship since the beginning of the Iraq war have received it. Many of the soldiers who have not received citizenship are caught up in the paperwork and red tape of the application process.
